

Argonaut Wrestling Dominates Western Wyoming

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. – After what appeared to be a dominating home finale, Argo Head Coach Caleb Scheaffer saw things that needed to be fixed in the workings of his team. Tonight against Western Wyoming Coach Scheaffer said, “Way better effort.” The Argo grapplers improved to 11-4 on the season with a 30-7 win.

In their second meet in two names the Argos stepped up to the challenge and dominated the meet. Danny Luttrell started out the dual great, raising the team emotion level by winning his match 17-2. “Danny got us fired up with a big win and we dominated the dual from start to finish.”

The Argos travel to Prescott, AZ. to take on Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University. On Saturday the Argos will compete in their fourth meet in four days against Grand Canyon University.
